Name	Knowledge-Based Workforce Competency Credential
Issued To	Michael Penfield (mailto:michaelpenfieldmail@gmail.com)
Description	Earning a NOCTI Workforce Competency Credential for successful completion of a NOCTI industry-based assessment is a key indicator that an individual has acquired the critical knowledge sought after by employers. Adding this credential to a portfolio, sharing through social media outlets, and including it as part of a resume can enhance the job seeking experience.
Criteria Summary	The NOCTI Workforce Competency Credential is earned by individuals meeting or exceeding the criterion-referenced cut score for the NOCTI Computer Programming industry-based certification. The blueprint Computer Programming - Revised (https://www.nocti.org/wp-content/uploads/Blueprints/JRCompProg4123.pdf) provides detail on the test content, including the standards and competencies to which questions are linked. This comprehensive list is reflective of the level of knowledge an individual must acquire in order to earn NOCTI certification.
